OLD IRISH CENSOS WINS THEM A WILL CONTEST

Heirs of William Kennedy Succeed in Proving Right to Share in a Relative's Estate.

A census of Ireland taken by the Eng-Government in 161 has been Instrumental in settling a suit before Surro gate Fowler which has dragged for several months. Helrs of William Kennedy asserted that he was a half brother of John F. Kennedy, who died intestate leaving a considerable estate, and there-fore entitled to share in it. Patrick J. Kennedy, a full brother of John, and a Mrs. Holmes, his sister, swore that Will-iam was not a half brother. The Surro-gate ruled against the claimants, but on a rehearing they produced a copy of the census of 18d, certified by the United States Consul in Dublin, which showed

TWO WOMEN

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound -Their Own Stories Here Told.

States Consul in Dublin, which showed that the head of a family in Nenagh, County Tipperary, was James Kennedy, who then lived with Elien, his second wife: that he had been previously marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three his mother, and recited that on the night on which the cersors was taken the children sleeping in the house were William, James, John and Bridget.

Surrogate Fowler now says William Kennedy's heirs are entitled to share in the distribution of the estate. He said he was greatly influenced in his decision by an admission by Patrick that his children always called William "uncle" without objection by himself. girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

The Other Case. The Other Case.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached. I had no appetite and was so flervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I eould scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation; but my husband thought I had better write to you, and I did so, stating my symptoms, at which merchandise would he sold at very low prices. It is learned that the decision to retire was very suddenly made, and as the firm had contracted for large amounts of merchandise for fall delivery, and also has large quantities of woollens in bond, it is compelied, from a view point of honor, to accept this merchandise, and it is likely that the sale will be a very interesting one.
